Contractor shall provide virtual training to all employees, at all levels of the organization [participating in the Office of Indian Education College Access grant]. This training will foster a sense of joint commitment to racial equity work, and to consider the importance of these questions in education. The goals of the training include: Examining Relevant Personal History: What is my own personal racial history? What did I and what did I not experience? How does that connect to my professional life and reckoning with race? Understanding the Language of Race and Racism in 2020-2021 in the United States: What definitions and concepts are important to understand? Exploring the Social Construction of Race: Race is not biologically real, yet has real lived consequences. Why is it important to understand how the social construction functions? Examining Relevant National History: Why is it important to learn what history has and has not been told? What do we need to know? Contractor shall provide two (2) facilitators of different racial identities for the facilitation of four (4), 3-hour sessions from 4:00 p.m. through 7:00 p.m with approximately 35 participants. Contractor shall provide a debrief meeting with the MPS Program Coordinator.
